RETROSPECT

Hi, everyone I am going to look backward. How is this possible? Well, I have a magic ball loaned to me by a wonderful friend who thought it would be a swell idea to review the past of the Seniors of 1958. Do I have permission? Certainly, as historian of the class I have in my possession permission to look back into the past school life of the Seniors of 1958.

I know that many people are superstitious and say it is a sure sign of evil to review the past. This is the only way we have to see the advantages as well as progress we have taken in the past several years. So let's ignore these superstitions and take a look at our progressive years in high school.

First, I see us as a group of 42 young and adventurous students anxious to begin four wonderful years in high school. Lester Holleman was our class president, James Blevins our reporter, Margie Peele our secretary and treasurer, Charles Hutchins our vice-president, and Amanda Gough our song leader. During our Freshman year several of our boys and girls became athletes. On the football team we were represented by Marcus Allred, Rubin Gardner, Wayne Wagoner, and Joe Wright. On the basketball teams were: Nancy Welborn, Joan Wooten, Carolyn Shore, Jo Ann Livengood, Ann Collins, Ann Tucker, Joe Wright, Wayne Wagoner, and Marcus Allred, Amanda Gough and Faye Pardue yelled on the sidelines after being chosen Cheerleaders. Two pretty girls, Margaret Bell and Lois Ingool were chosen to represent us in the Homecoming Activities. Everyone thoroughly enjoyed this first year in high school. Mr. John Alexander and Mr. George Holmes were our sponsors. Very soon this first year in high school had ended.

Very soon came our second year in high school. By now we knew the pattern of school life very well. We were again represented by a large number in sports. On the football team we had five boys, and five boys played on the baseball team. On the basketball teams there were five girls and six boys. Randall Cave and Stony Johnson joined Amanda Gough and Faye Pardue as Cheerleaders. Chosen to participate in the Homecoming Activities were Faye Pardue and Janie Sparks. Amanda Gough and Janie Sparks did some fancy-high stepping as they were chosen as majorettes. Our class officers did their jobs very well. They were as follows: Faye Pardue, president; Eugene Hemric, vice-president; Nancy Welborn, secretary; and Randal Cave, treasurer. Mr. H. C. Moretz, Jr. and Mr. Hoyt Reece were our sponsors this year.

Time passed quickly and one day we realized we were Juniors. During this year we had a wonderful time. Virginia Hemric was the envy of every girl as she was chosen Miss West Yadkin. Amanda Gough and Freda Money represented us in the Homecoming Activities. Amanda Gough was chosen as a majorette. Carolyn Shore, Nancy Welborn, Jackie Reinhardt, Joe Wright, Wayne Wagoner, and Marcus Allred made the first team in basketball. We had four boys on the football team and three boys on the baseball team. This year five girls represented us as Cheerleaders. They were as follows: Delphine Holcomb, Betty Jane Money, Bobbie Jane Sloop, Faye Pardue, and Sylvia Ireland. There were nine wise-owls invited into the Beta Club. Joe Wright, Rex Reavis, Eugene Hemric, Marcus Allred and Clyde King volunteered to carry us safely to and from school as bus drivers.

After a long awaited time we were Seniors, running over with knowledge, and using it on every possible occasion. There were 42 of us ready to encounter this last year in high school. Ready to prepare for the broad future lying before us. To lead us through this year we chose Margie Peele as president; Jackie Reinhardt, vice-president; Pauline Brown, secretary; and Marcus Allred, treasurer. Many Senior girls were chosen as Cheerleaders. They were as follows: Faye Pardue, Chief: Margaret Bell, Sylvia Ireland, Betty Jane Money, Bobbie Jane Sloop, Rose Macy, Patty Long, and Delphine Holcomb. Joe Wright, Wayne Wagoner, Jackie Reinhardt, Marcus Allred, Nancy Welborn and Carolyn Shore were on the first team in basketball. Playing football were Wayne Wagoner, Gary Wagoner, Randall Cave, Marcus Allred, Joe Wright, and Clyde King. Amanda Gough was Chief Majorette leading the band and Ann Tucker, Joan Wooten, and Nancy Welborn who were a few of the Letter Girls. Bobby Hemric was Editor-in-Chief of the annual and Faye Pardue was Business Manager. Three Senior girls were invited into the Beta Club. They were Amanda Gough, Pauline Brown, and Ann Huffman. This year we chose Faye Pardue and Margie Peele as the Senior Attendants to our Homecoming Queen, Freda Money. This year Marcus Allred, Joe Wright, Clyde King, Eugene Hemric, and Lester Shore were faithful bus drivers we had two capable and wonderful sponsors, Mrs. Helen Wishon and Mrs. James Mathis. We also took the long awaited trip for Washington and had loads of fun. These high school days will never be forgotten by the Seniors of 1958. Well, I see my friend has returned for the magic ball, so let us thank her for these cherished moments we have had the privilege of reviewing once again.

CLASS PROPHECY

As I look into this crystal ball I see this senior class 10 years from now which will be 1968. What I see is all the seniors at their jobs or at their homes.

I see Marcus Allred as a great basketball or baseball player for the Boston Celtics or the New York Yankees.

Ah, now I see Margaret Bell as a famous Hollywood beauty operator.

Pauline Brown is coming into view in the crystal ball as a very good secretary.

Randall Cave should make a very handsome soldier for Uncle Sam.

I see Rubin Gardner as a great football player making thousands of dollars and rocking and rolling to Elvis Presily Records.

The Big Record will see a new face upon the stage, it will be Amanda Gough.

I see now Earle Harris running a furniture factory from the knowledge he acquired in Mr. Wright's shop.

I see Bobby Gene Hemric as a great accountant working night and day for a great firm.

Eugene Hemric is now coming into view, Ah, I see him running Hemric Motor Company which specializes in Fords only.

Delphine Holcomb will be a first grade teacher, I can just hear her now, "Oh those brats."

Well, now I see Lester Holleman just working and making a good living.

Ann Huffman will be just buying and selling clothes for the Anchor Company.

Now just look at Lois Ingool, she is really making Roger a good house wife.

Well, will everyone look at Clyde King, the great surgeon. I sure hope no one gets sick.

Hear that airplane going over, that must mean Patty Long is back on the job, working as a stewardist for Piedmont Airlines.

What, is some one sick, well here comes Margie Peele and Rose Macy the two great nurses of our class.

Hear that trumphet, that must be Raymond Madison, who is now playing for a great college band.

I hear a typewriter, it must be Elanor Millholand since she is a secretary.

Listen to that adding machine go would you, Betty Jane Money sure is on the job since she started working for that accounting company.

What, another nurse, that must be Freda Money who works for a private doctor.

Jewels, Jewels, that must mean we are close to Faye Pardue's jewelry store.

Watch it, there is a woman cop, well it's Audrey Pinnix.

Just look at these super-highways, that's some of Jackie Reinhardt's work, boy he sure is making money.

Buy something, you sure can't help it when Carolyn Shore is the clerk.

Look, what nice pictures, they were done by Faye Shore, the artist of our class.

See that bus, that's Lester Shore, he sure liked to drive one in high school.

Look, what a nice looking teacher, why that's Bobbie Jane Sloop.

What Garland Smith, a senator, I thought we should have one in our class.

A good housewife, sure that is Margaret Swisher.

Read this comic strip, it was written by Ann Tucker, boy, she always liked to joke.

Polly Jordan always wanted to be an English teacher, watch out Mrs. Wishon.

I see Rondal Turner just taking it easy and working a little once in a while.

Listen to that diesel motor purr would you, that means Gary Wagoner has been working on it.

Wayne Wagoner sure is a good engineer.

Boy, Nancy Welborn sure is working hard as a bookeeper and secretary combined.

Joan Wooten sure is enjoying working in that store where they sell pretty clothes.

I see Joe Wright running a business of his own.

See that nice looking clerk in that store, that is Sylvia Ireland
